

Wednesday, December 2, 2015 Peace Arch News

Boaz Joseph photos

Welcoming the season

Sunny weather contributed to record attendance at this year's Christmas on the Peninsula festival in uptown White Rock on Saturday – with 2,165 visitors alone counted at the main venue, the White Rock Community Centre, by the time of the concluding Christmas tree lighting ceremony with Mayor Wayne Baldwin. Joanne Specht (above, centre) sings with carollers from White Rock Lutheran Church outside Coast Capital Playhouse, while 20-month-old Lily Preston (left) munches a cookie as dad Doug lifts her up for a good view of the old-style Christmas celebrations.